Coal Branch Now Buried Under Snow

Harried District
Further Crippled
By 24-Inch Fall

Raging snowstorm, which followed quickly on the heels of a 90-mile-an-hour gale, has buried Alberta's Coal Branch area in close to 24 inches of snow, cutting it off from other points in the province. Coming up quickly on Friday, the snow has further crippled the harried district where work had been beginning to put itself together following Thursday's non-burricane.

WORK AT STANDSTILL
In Cadom, schools, coal mines and almost every other form of business is at a standstill while harassed residents slowly await the next development in the worst winter experienced in more than 20 years.

Throughout Luscar, Mountain Park and Leyland, conditions are much the same.

To date damage in the area has been estimated at more than $100,000 and still growing. Cadom suffered the brunt of the damage Thursday and Friday as gusts reached up to 40 and 50 miles an hour, leveling several garages and sheds, and carrying away roofs of many other buildings.

HOMES BLOWN AWAY
Homes belonging to Mr. and Mrs. W. Copeland and Mrs. D. R. Roelich were extensively damaged. The walls and roof of the Copeland home were carried away, resulting in the loss of most household effects.

WORKERS RESCUE DOG FROM RIVER

TWO BUSY bridge builders found time to rescue an unknown black dog from drowning in the Saskatchewan river Friday. Zola Gaumont (above), 2657, 105 street, saved the dog's life by kneading the animal's stomach, after Gaumont and Edgar Bougain pulled it from river. Dog, swimming in open water by low level bridge span, went under ice and was rescued, after reappearing 150 feet away in another patch of open water. Pooch is recovering in boiler room of People Construction Co. near north bank of river.

Problem of Care for Aged Must Be Faced Council Told

WINNIPEG, Jan. 8.—(CP)—In Canada—a comparatively young country—the problem of caring for her long-lived aged has become a grave one which now will have to be faced, the Canadian Welfare Council's public welfare division has been warned.

MARGARET ROSE BEING GROOMED AS BEST DRESSED

LONDON, Jan. 8.—(BUP)—Princess Margaret soon may become one of Britain's best-dressed women, according to "Capital" magazine, fashion designer.

Molyneux said the 18-year-old Princess has a natural flair for clothes.

"She loves what she wears," he said.

Margaret orders most of her clothes from Norman Hartnell, Queen Elizabeth's designer. It is rumored that she sends out queries to the more fashionable Molyneux for the dresses and gowns that are winning her fame in the fashion world.

Outside of her aunt, the Duchess of Kent, Margaret was the first member of the Royal Family to wear the new look. And Molyneux also dresses the Duchess of Kent, who places her most lists of the world's 10 best-dressed women.

2 To 3 Cent Increase In Price Of Tea

The cost-of-living index may be down seven tenths of a point, but the cost of some items continues to climb.

Newest increases to be felt by the housewife is in the price of tea, which is expected to be two and three cents higher on the next shipment from wholesalers. Word of the increase was received Jan. 1, by Edmonton wholesalers, but it will not be felt by food buyers till present stocks in the stores are depleted, possibly Monday.

Retail price is now $13.5 a pound for the best grade of tea. The new price per lb. will bring it to $17.

$127.7 million highway Program's Forecast

'Bumper' Provincial Budget Expected

Alberta's 1949 "bumper" budget will provide for expenditures of nearly $63,000,000 according to estimates in legislative corridors this week.

Included in the forecast are to the size of the budget is a prediction the government will set aside $12,000,000 for the third year of the five-year highway program.

Deadline for government's financial year is set for Jan. 31. The first estimates to be made by the province on April 1, passed this week. These estimates are now in the hands of treasury officials and will be considered by them and by the cabinet before budget time rolls around at the session which opens Feb. 17, 1949.

Reason for the optimistic view taken by officials and others that the provincial government will be opened in approval of expenditures is seen in the buoyant picture presented on the revenue side of the expected budget.

Most prominent feature on the credit side of the ledger is the revenue to be received from the department of lands and mines, based largely on returns from sale of oil rights and on oil royalty receipts.

PAID OFF ESTIMATES
Budget-makers preparing the estimates for the 1948 season thought that the province would receive $4,292,250, but developments in Alberta oil fields since that time have brought oil revenues alone almost to $4,000,000. To this must be added timber and coal royalties as well as other receipts.

These same forecasters of provincial revenue and expenditures figured that the province would receive a deficit of $4,000,000, which was to be financed from accumulated surplus.

At March 31, 1948, surplus balance during the past year was $4,000,000. Budget-makers were restricted by shortages of material and labor and by the fact that the province had to meet its obligations for the first attack, and a Tempest was lost in the second, the ministry said.

The announcement of dispatch of troops to Agaba, in Trans-Jordan, confirmed reports circulating for several days that Britain is moving troops into Trans-Jordan to enforce the armistice treaty with King Abdullah.

A foreign office spokesman told the House of Commons that the movements to Agaba had been ordered "in response to a request from Trans-Jordan for assistance in the face of the invasion of the country by the forces of the Arab rebellion."

No other movement of troops has taken place "so far as the speaker has continued. He volunteered the observation that the RAF has been ordered to discontinue its operations in the area."

The informant denied published reports that Britain also is sending troops to the Egyptian-Palestine frontier where Israeli and Egyptian forces were reported to have clashed after yesterday's ceasefire deadline. A Tel Aviv dispatch said the ceasefire has been observed.

British Wheat Talks Continue

OTTAWA, Jan. 8.—(CP)—Negotiations on the question of price-extension of the Anglo-Canadian wheat contract still are going on between London and Ottawa with no clear indication of when they might be concluded, high government sources said today.

The situation is little changed from what it was three weeks ago.

Though some progress has been made, the Canadian and British negotiators still are seeking to determine whether it would be better to extend the contract beyond its expiry date of July 31, 1950, or to close it out on that date with a cash settlement.

Present allowances in the Leduc field are 100 barrels a day from the 12 per well, and 150 barrels per well from the 13.

Leduc Quotas To Be Reviewed

A public hearing into allowable production rates at the Leduc field will be conducted in the Court House, Calgary, January 21.

The hearing, conducted by the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board, will hear representations of operators in the field with regard to rates of production.

PROPORTION GROWS
But, Mr. Heise said last night, no such principle had been established in caring for the aged. Barring some such stimulus as immigration, the proportion of aged persons in the population would continue to increase in light of the declining birth rate.

This raised the question of the standard at which the declining percentage of the population could maintain itself and an increasing group of dependents—a question which "I answered."

Mr. Heise, emphasizing he was speaking his personal views, said that even if welfare officers agreed upon principles which they would find "in short order" they were handicapped because of lack of research facilities.

AGAINST DOLE
From E. W. Griffith, deputy minister of welfare for British Columbia, came a plea for the avoidance of anything smacking of the dole in dealing with unemployed.

Research of the federal health department, research division, said centres such as Vancouver, Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg might expect an influx of jobless if a large-scale recession occurred, though Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary and Edmonton would receive a "fair share" of unemployed.

UNTIL JULY 12
Zachariuk, convicted last October by a supreme court jury for the shotgun slaying of William Pacheco between May 13 and 29 last, was granted a reprieve until July 12, at which time his case will again be reviewed.

Slated to die on Jan. 12, Zachariuk is being committed to Home mental hospital for treatment. Original sentence was handed down by Mr. Justice J. C. Ford.

Application for reprieve was made today before Mr. Justice Hugh John Macdonald by Crown Prosecutor W. J. Shortreed.

Medical testimony offered today showed the convicted slayer has been behaving strangely during the past several days, refusing to wear clothes, muttering unintelligently, and running about his cell for hours on end.

Mike Zachariuk Wins Stay of Execution

Four days before he was to hang for the murder of a Speddon district farmer, 20-year-old Mike Zachariuk of Edmonton won a stay of execution on grounds of insanity.

This marks the first reprieve ever granted in Alberta on insanity grounds.

Only other temporary reprieve on record here is one granted in November, 1932, when Kenneth McLean, sentenced to hang for the September, 1932, slaying of James Walter Parrie, was granted brief reprieve by Mr. Justice J. C. Ford.

Three Powers May Mediate Chinese Wars

NANKING, Jan. 8.—(AP)—A usually reliable source said today the Chinese government had asked the British, United States and French governments to attempt to mediate the civil war.

Ambassadors for the three powers here were asked to relay the request to their governments, the source said.

The three ambassadors were asked to indicate the Soviet member of the "Big Four" in the summit last considerable speculation here. It was understood that the Russian ambassador has been playing away from any possible suggestion of mediation or observation of negotiations, apparently on orders from Moscow.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—(CP)—Lord Beaverbrook, one of the most colorful figures in British politics, has decided to resign from the Conservative party.

The Canadian-born peer, one of the world's leading publishers, has dropped out of the party, it was reported last night.

Farm, Ranch Labor Outlook Is Poor

No Improvement Forecast For 1949 Stockmen Are Told

CALGARY, Jan. 8.—(CP)—The farm and ranch labor outlook in Alberta in 1949 will not be much better than it was last year, R. M. Putnam of Edmonton said yesterday in an address before the Western Stock Growers Association.

Speaking before more than 130 delegates representing the four western provinces, Mr. Putnam, director of extension of the provincial department of agriculture, said acceptable wage schedules and adequate housing, especially for women, would go a long way toward improving the situation of farm and ranch labor.

He said that the labor cost was a serious problem to the ranchers in 1948 the average wage for a farm or ranch hand was $28.40 a month in Alberta. In 1948 the average wage was $30.41. He said there had been a greater percentage rise in wages than in the price of living along over the same period.

Reduction in the cost of motor license plates would also provide a relief to motorists. Motor licenses now vary in price with the year of manufacture and the type of car. Fuel oil taxes brought $4,200,000 into the provincial coffers in the first nine months of the year.

Fields in which the provincial government has been active are limited. It is not likely fees, rentals or royalties from the petroleum industry will be reduced while this resource is being exploited.

Major aids of provincial expenditure are expected to go to the department of public works to be spent on capital account for roads and buildings. This will mark the third year of an announced "five-year" plan to improve Alberta highways.

Construction of buildings may still be held up by material shortages but Alberta will be able to predict the shape of "things to come" by financial projections made when the budget is released.

Announced policy of the government to devote new sources of revenue to capital construction makes it unlikely any increases will be made in social services or other grants. Slight boosts in such programs might be made but only by one or two per cent.

The government foresees a period when revenue will be less than outlays and fears to establish a scale of payments it would be difficult to maintain in financially-restricted times.

Woman Robbed By Armed Thugs

VICTORIA, Jan. 8.—(CP)—Two armed and masked bandits early today robbed Mrs. and Mrs. John G. Douglas of $70 in cash and two rings valued at $7,000 in their home here.

The gunmen forced their way into the Douglas' apartment, bound the couple, leaving them in separate rooms and then took the rings from Mrs. Douglas.

After examination of the rings, one of the bandits returned Mrs. Douglas' wedding ring.

The father, James Brownell, told the court: "Part of the trouble is that he was only 12 when I went overseas. He has been away at college in Vancouver since I came back."

FATHER TAKES PART OF BLAME FOR SON'S SINS

TORONTO, Jan. 8.—(CP)—A father who came from Winnipeg for his son's court appearance said yesterday that lack of parental guidance was partly to blame for his son getting into trouble.

The youth, Roy Brownell, 20, shot in the leg in a police chase, was convicted of taking an automobile without the owner's consent. He will be sentenced later.

The father, James Brownell, told the court: "Part of the trouble is that he was only 12 when I went overseas. He has been away at college in Vancouver since I came back."

Woman Robbed By Armed Thugs

VICTORIA, Jan. 8.—(CP)—Two armed and masked bandits early today robbed Mrs. and Mrs. John G. Douglas of $70 in cash and two rings valued at $7,000 in their home here.

The gunmen forced their way into the Douglas' apartment, bound the couple, leaving them in separate rooms and then took the rings from Mrs. Douglas.

After examination of the rings, one of the bandits returned Mrs. Douglas' wedding ring.

Psychiatry Theme of New Air Series

Drama Used To Interpret Findings Of Specialists

By Don Flach

An age-old art combines with a new and modern science in a new series of programs to be presented by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation on the Dominion network.

The series, with the title "Search of Ourselves," starts next Tuesday evening at 8:30 and will be heard locally through the Edmonton and Canadian Federal stations.

The age-old art is drama and it is used to interpret the findings of modern psychiatrists, about our relations with other people in a manner understandable to the layman.

DR. GRIFFIN SPEAKER

In a twenty-minute drama, written and produced by Len Peterson, a case involving common personality problems will be portrayed. Dr. J. D. Griffin, of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene, will make comment.

The broadcasts are being promoted by many agencies, among them the Community Programs Division of the Ontario Department of Education and the Canadian Federation of Home and School.

The National Committee for Mental Hygiene has prepared a series of pamphlets to go with the broadcast which are available to registered groups wishing to discuss and form opinions on matters affecting the series.

The series is another attempt on the part of the national broadcast service to present a constructive program that offers more than purely entertainment and escapism, but characterizes drama and the program offers today.

Motivating Dr. Griffin in his participation in the series is his belief in the theory that the peace of the world depends to some considerable extent in the peace of mind of individual human beings. He is eager to see the creation of a mental hygiene institute on the same scale as, for example, the Canadian Tuberculosis Association.

On one side is a supercharged number that sounds like an Aztec or Aztec dance, "Mammy, Mammy, No, I'd never heard of it, but believe me, it's an experience."

There is very little melody to the piece, it's a frenzied, gradual, discordant number that it expertly orchestrated and played with a high tension, emotion, it's mighty hard to describe, but it's certainly interesting.

On the other side is the Intermezzo from Grandioso Goyescas. This piece varies in mood from melancholy Latin rhythms to string of notes, and is excellently played by the Stokowski group.

Lecture at Varsity Produces First Novel

By Harold Delany

A 25-year-old war refugee who 10 years ago spoke his first word of English is now not only a lecturer at the University of Alberta, but also an author whose first novel has just been published.

He is Henry Kretzel who fled from his Vienna home in 1938, accepted an appointment to lecture in English at the U of A in 1942.

Kretzel proved himself. During his undergraduate years he consistently led his class, and in 1946 he completed his masters' degree, earning a brilliant scholarship record.

With his Toronto wife, he came to the U of A two summers ago, where he is an able and well-liked instructor.

As has been indicated, Henry Kretzel is not one to drop a thing before he is satisfied that it has been thoroughly delivered.

So it is with his authorship. Already well advanced is a second novel, the title of which has not yet been decided.

For two years he worked in a Leeds clothing factory, but any thoughts of continuing this profession soon ceased when he discovered Shakespeare and with dictionary close at hand, he taught his evening with the Bard.

With the declaration of war, he automatically became an enemy alien, one of the thousands of victims of a cautious government in a world at war.

Interment Camp. Coming to Canada soon after as an intern, the future author was confined to a Quebec internment camp until it was decided to seek quarters for these young whose education had been interrupted by the war.

To the family who offered to sponsor him, Kretzel, wrote a letter and read these beautiful words, and suddenly it seemed to me as if the wind that was blowing had turned to a soft, gentle breeze.

And now you are going to give me the most precious thing in the world. You are giving me my freedom!

There was more quoted, but the foregoing suffices to show that even then, he was apt at the difficult language.

He immediately entered the University of Toronto and in 1945, after advice to the contrary—"After all, it is only three years since you started speaking English," he en-

TODAY'S MESSAGE

False Gods

There was a time when men worshipped the sun and stars, even trees. Some ancient tribes made sacrifice to stone idols. The old Egyptians made a cult of mummified bulls and cats; the American Aborigines danced around the totem poles. Even the Greeks in their days of splendor had their sacred oracles, their gallery of strange, incredible gods.

Modern men may smile over the naive beliefs of ancient races and peoples. But today the worship of false gods—exists today just as it did in the heydays of old Rome or Greece. Modern false gods are not in the groves or in mountain caves. The idolatry of our times is a subtler idolatry. It is the worship of wealth, success, talent, beauty or skill. It is the worship of intelligence, art, of the body itself.

Everywhere are men and women who prefer the worship of Mammon—of the world and of worldly things—to the worship of God. Some of these people may be nominal Christians, but like some of the primitive Christians, they must be bidden to hear the cry of St. Paul: "What harmony is there between Christ and Belial... and what agreement has the temple of God with the idols?"

Because they seek the cult of Christ too severe, foolish men seek refuge and peace in created things rather than in the Creator Himself. Were the ancients who worshipped the sun more idolatrous than modern intellectuals who worship their own minds? Were they more deluded than the shallow followers who today offer incense at the altars of so-called great men of government, science, or industry? Are the Romans who erected statues to their household gods, especially the gratification of selfish or unbridled ambition, at the cost of being alienated from God.

A beautiful woman should not look upon her endowment of beauty as a license to misuse her charm or grace. If she does so, her sin becomes one of idolatry as well as of wantonness. Nor should the great artist, the brilliant statesman or lawyer, the shrewd business executive—see those who yearn to be a power or to become famous—set up idols of power, glory and vanity in their hearts.

Uncle Wiggily Enjoys A Sleighting Outing

Uncle Wiggily stood at the top of the hill with Bunty's sled, which he was taking to school for her.

"I think Bunty's sled will be big enough for me to come down," said Uncle Wiggily. "My hind legs may hang over the back end, but as I am going down belly whoppers, that won't matter. I need to have my hind legs hanging over the back of the sled to steer with. Oh, this is a fine day for sleighing! It's the best chance I'll get in a long while. Ha! Ha! What fun I'll have!"

OPEN TOO BUSY

Uncle Wiggily did not often get a chance to go sleighing. If he was out with Mrs. Longears, she thought it would look funny for an old rabbit gentleman like Uncle Wiggily to go sleighing. And when Uncle Wiggily was not out with his wife, he was so busy helping around the house or going to the store, the Urtse Jane, that he seldom got a chance to coast.

Uncle Wiggily stretched out, face down on Bunty's sled. Ahead of him was a long, snow-covered hill which ended in front of Hollow Tree School. Bunty and some of the boys and girls had coasted down it a little earlier that morning.

Making himself comfortable with his long legs hanging over the back so he could steer, Uncle Wiggily looked down the hill, the snow of which was glistening in the sunshine.

"Here I go for a fine coast!" said the rabbit uncle to himself. He pushed with his hind paws that were hanging over the back end of the sled, and it began to glide down the slippery hill.

Faster, faster and faster went the sled. The wind whistled in Uncle Wiggily's long ears. It tingled his pink nose.

RIGHT TO SCHOOL

He was going so fast that he coasted right up to the front door of the school. Rufus, the rat gentleman janitor, was shovelling away

"This isn't my sled, it's Bunty's," answered rabbit uncle. "I'll just come to bring it to her. And, Rufus, if it's all the same to you, I would prefer if you didn't speak of me coasting down the hill. You know."

"Yes, Uncle Wiggily. Some might think you are too old for coasting, but I know better."

SKATING NEXT

"Where are you going?" asked Uncle Wiggily as he saw Rufus walking away with the snow shovel and broom.

"Oh, I have a little spare time, Uncle Wiggily, so I'm going over to Frog Pond and do a little skating."

"Skating?" asked Uncle Wiggily, thinking his pink nose extra fast. "Oh, I'd love to go skating! But I left my skates at home."

"I have an extra pair of skates in my cellar," said Rufus. "I'll get them for you. Mind the shovel and broom, please until I come back."

Rufus soon returned with two pairs of skates, one for himself and one for Uncle Wiggily. Then the rat gentleman janitor said:

"You carry the broom and I'll take the shovel and we'll go skating."

"Why do we need the broom and shovel?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"You'll see," answered Rufus. So Uncle Wiggily went skating and he had a funny adventure, which I'll tell you about soon.

YOUR COLUMN NOW IN 3 TIMES A WEEK

How do you like having your column in during the week? It's sort of like having another birthday isn't it—I guess what the important people would call "a milestone in the life of the Tawasi Club."

From now on there will be a column every Tuesday and Thursday, as well as the Saturday page, so watch on those two days because we'll be able to cover a lot more things now.

Let me remind you again that this is YOUR club. When things happen that are interesting to children, write and tell me, or phone me at The Bulletin. That's what the grown-ups do with their part of the paper.

Maybe, if I get all sorts of news from you we'll be able to have space every day for the Tawasi Club.

Sincerely

Ruth Barry

Playschools of Edmonton Even More Fun Than Play

Small fry all over the city are having the time of their lives in Playschool, where they are taught to play together and use their hands.

No attempt is made to teach the three R's in the Playschools, but the children take their work very seriously and are making a fine start for the hard business of real schooling to come.

MOTHERS HELP TOO

Mothers pitch in to help the directors out with instruction and control of the small people for their two-hour classes. Games, singing, making, plasticine models, coloring, picture cutting, painting, building blocks, and many other things are used.

Attention to the standards for ordinary play, but come Valentine's Day, a party or birthday and they're all busy getting ready to have a party—or having a party.

Tawasi Club Weekly Mail

Tawasi mail keeps coming in thickly. There are applications every day, and in a day or so I will have another batch of badges and I will sit down and send out cards and badges—so if you haven't heard from me yet, don't worry because you will soon.

Elizabeth Mages writes from Kinsella, telling us that the baby sits, and scrubs and polishes, and does fancy work and likes walking, cycling, PT and taking naps—and then she says she wishes she had something to do. It seems to me you're a pretty busy girl, Elizabeth.

Marianne Winkler, of Houston, has about 400 stamps in her collection and 15 sets of cutouts which she saves also. She also has two cats, the lucky girl!

Colep Barry wrote a lovely long letter. Among some of the nice things he said was a wish that our club will last forever and that people will know how much the Tawasi Club can help anyone. He collects stamps and has dogs and rabbits for pets.

Outstanding Fur Show Next Week

Latest Designs In Mink
Garments Being Displayed

First fur fashion show of its kind ever to be held in Alberta will be staged at the Trocadero ballroom Wednesday afternoon and evening in conjunction with the Alberta Fur Breeders' Association's 11th Annual Mink and Fox Pelt Show which opens here Monday.

The show—entitled "Fur Fashions of 1949"—will feature all the latest designs in fur coats, jackets, neck pieces, etc., and will be displayed by professional models.

According to officials in charge of the show, Edmonton women and others interested in fur will be treated to a fashion review the like of which has never been witnessed here before.

LUXURIOUS GARMENTS

Thousands of dollars of luxurious fur garments, exclusively fashioned by top-ranking fur stylists, will be displayed.

The new rare and exquisite blue-tinted mink, a deep dark brown, lined with silver, mottled with soft underlines which is said by the experts to be lovely in its daytime will be the Silverblue Platinum, the pedigree mink of glorious natural grey tones enlivened with opalescent blues. It is luxuriously soft, rich, rare and regal.

ROYAL PASTEL MINK

Also to be shown in mink garments is the Royal Pastel which is said to be the newest and rarest mutation and the color of a pale opus.

Silver Fox creations, platinum, glacier blue, pearly-toned fashioned garments will also be lavishly displayed in this great fur fashion show which is bound to meet with the interest and approval of Edmonton women and fur fashion followers.

Costly Furs Being Displayed at Show

Pelts Valued At Thousands Of Dollars Will Be Seen

Furs valued at thousands of dollars will go on display in Edmonton Monday when the 11th annual three-day Fox and Mink Pelt Show sponsored by the Alberta Fur Breeders' Association opens at the Massey-Harris building, 10616 103 Avenue.

Objectives of the annual pelt show are to give every breeder in the province—of which there are 1,800 registered—an opportunity of exhibiting their pelts and comparing them with those shown by other breeders and to show the public the splendid class of furs produced by provincial fur ranchers.

STIMULATES INTEREST

It is also held to stimulate mink and fox interest in the wearing of fur and mink furs.

The breeders' association points out that prices for fox and mink furs are such that it's easy for the average working girl to purchase any of the various coats, jackets and neckpieces made from these fur pelts.

The shows also enable the fur-breeders to ascertain if they are producing the class of pelt which will net the highest profit and it serves as a sort of a formal getting-together of all fur ranchers at which they may discuss their various fur-raising problems.

Pelts from Alberta are highly regarded in the fur industry and carry higher prices from fur markets. Alberta is the third-highest producer of fox and mink fur in Canada.

One of the largest entry lists in history is anticipated for this year's show and the class of pelts is said to be of a very high calibre.

TYPES BEING SHOWN

Among the types of mink to be

ERNEST A. GROSS, legal adviser to the fur breeders' association, has been named Co-ordinator for the Foreign Assistance Program. His job will be to tie up all the estimates for military aid to foreign nations.

Foxes show will be Standard Silver, Platinum, Gilt, Blue, White Face Silver, Pearl, Platinum, Glacier, Pearl, and Greenland Alaskan Blues.

AFBA president Hugh J. Montgomery said today all is in readiness for what is expected to be the best show ever held by the association.

Officers of the Alberta Fur Breeders' Association, who are taking part in the show arrangements are: Hon. President, J. J. Barr; President, H. J. Montgomery; 1st Vice-President, L. R. Gorman; and Vice-President, D. E. Harty; Secretary-treasurer, A. G. Walker and directors, S. A. Treigill; H. S. Jenkins and L. McInnes.

January 10-15 Is Proclaimed Ranch Fur Week

The week of January 10 to 15 has been proclaimed "Alberta Ranch Fur Week" by the Alberta Fur Breeders' Association.

Merchants throughout the province are being invited to participate in the event by displaying in their show windows fur garments as well as raw and mink fur provided for the purpose by fur ranchers in the neighborhood.

Alberta is renowned throughout the fur industry as producing very high class ranch raised furs and is the third largest producer of these furs in Canada.

It is estimated that there are more than 1,800 registered fur breeders in the province, an increase of almost 600 over a year ago.

Total value of furs being raised is said in excess of $6,000,000.

DISTRICT NEWS IN BRIEF

8-Mile Section Of Road Finished

COLD LAKE, Jan. 8.—Battling temperatures as low as 45 degrees below zero during the recent cold spell, an Alberta government road graveling crew has succeeded in finishing the initial eight mile stretch of the Cold Lake-St. Paul highway.

Beginning at a point west of the government dock on the shores of the lake the new highway passes within a few hundred yards of Grand Centre and of Beaver Crossing and is complete to within one and a half miles of the Beaver River. Graveling curved with the hills leveled off by deep cuts and high fills the new road is in pleasing contrast to the old stretch south of the river.

A site for a new bridge across the Beaver has been surveyed. The new crossing will be 400 feet down stream from the present bridge and from there the highway will follow the contour of Beita Creek to higher ground. The survey is complete to a point one half mile south of the Beaver River.

The graveling work on the highway was continued long after freeze-up at the request of a district delegation who interviewed Hon. D. B. MacMillan, minister of public works.

During the last two weeks of work in extremely cold weather the Cold Lake Board of Trade provided the dragline, grader and truck operators with two hot meals daily. In return a bill on the approach to the John Neil Hospital at Cold Lake, west of the highway was gravelled.

As a temporary measure the steep parts of the hills on both sides of the Beaver River bridge were gravelled.

D. R. Duquid, B.Sc., Edinburgh Scotland, graduate in electrical and civil engineering from the British institute, was in charge of the

MACLEOD

A tiny encampment of N.W.M.P. tents pitched near Old Man River in the year 1874; the building of a small log fort that meant law and order; pioneers who settled under the protection of the scarlet-coated Mounties.

That's the story of Macleod, named after the fort's commander, Assistant Commissioner James F. Macleod. That was the start of this Southern Alberta city of 2,000 who cater to a trading zone of 4,000, who have made farming and ranching big business... and who found the assets to invest $2,499,700 in Victory bonds in the Second World War.

It was mostly Anglo-Saxons who settled the Macleod district. They're building for the future in community enterprises with a swimming pool and park as a memorial to two World Wars. They look to prosperity in filling their four grain elevators... and to their strategic location on two highways from the border which bring "plus" dollars into the community through their modern tourist facilities.

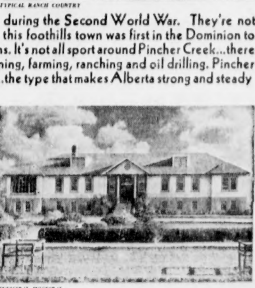

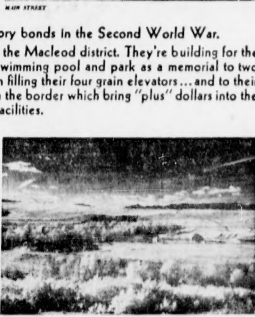

PINCHER CREEK

Just 29 miles from Macleod, in a picturesque valley near the railroad, lies the town of Pincher Creek, the focal point of a sportsman's dream. The 1,800 people of Pincher, who cater to a trading zone of 6,000, live in Alberta's best fishing and hunting area. Dude ranches and resorts are nearby. And, encouraging the sporting facilities is one of the most successful fish hatcheries in Alberta with a yearly capacity of 260,000 fish. There is money... big money... in Pincher Creek, with $2,903,100 subscribed in Victory bonds during the Second World War. They're not tight-fisted people in Pincher either... for this foothills town was first in the Dominion to reach its objective in seven out of nine loans. It's not all sport around Pincher Creek... there are heavy grain and forage crops, coal mining, farming, ranching and oil drilling. Pincher Creek is a small town but an important one... the type that makes Alberta strong and steady.

OFFICIAL RANCH COURTESY

CLARESHOLM

With seven elevators in a town of 1,355 population, you know how important farming is in the area. That's Clareholm... on the Calgary-Macleod-C.P.R. line... nestled in the Southern Foothills of Alberta, a trading centre for 3,500 people. There's a great deal of ranching and dairying, too, with a creamery taking care of surplus milk. They're a quietly patriotic people in Clareholm... subscribing $2,211,150 in Victory loans during the war, and sending 420 of their finest into His Majesty's forces. And to commemorate the service of these men is the new Legion Memorial Recreation hall now in building. Many a Canadian and Commonwealth airman knows Clareholm, for numbers of them trained there at R.C.A.F. station. There is a district agriculture office located here and a flour mill. Most of all, there is an aggressive community spirit, typified by a wide interest in sports, the annual fair and sports days, the boys' and girls' band, and the Argyle Agricultural Improvement Association.

'In Our Merry Oldsmobile ...' Is Mercurys' Theme

PROBLEM OF TRANSPORTING Coach Jimmy Graham's Mercurys of the Northern Alberta Intermediate League from place to place just isn't a problem at all. Team executives like sponsor Jim Christiansen and

Mercurys Travel In Fine Style

Railroads are fine but as far as members of the Waterloo Mercurys entry in the Northern Alberta Intermediate Hockey League are concerned they'll stick to their own private bus, bought expressly for their convenience and they could use them for other purposes between entries in the league.

And now even the younger edition of the Mercurys, the Junior Hockey League, are casting covetous eyes upon the vehicle. Leafs are portending a Barbed-Wire tour for an exhibition game and want the bus.

NO DICE

They will have to wait until Mercurys are through, however, for the intermediate club was given reserved strictly for use of a Camrose Saturday night for a game.

The bus is believed to be the only one of its type in the province, and it is the only one of its type in the province, and it is the only one of its type in the province.

Seattle franchise of the Pacific Coast Hockey League had their own private conveyance up until last year when automobiles took over the job. The bus was used for all trips in the northern division, including one of 400 miles between Portland and Vancouver.

Even in the National Hockey League the teams rely upon public conveyances for transportation. The same holds in the American and certain other leagues.

BALL TEAMS HAVE EM

In other sports, however, use of privately owned conveyance is not nearly so limited. Many minor league baseball teams have their own bus, as do hundreds of United States high schools and some Canadian schools.

Getting back to the Mercurys, their proprietors like to use the bus cause it enables them to go home from the game without having to wait for a taxi or a car.

WETASKIWIN, Jan. 8.—Aboussafy of Ponoka Friday night was named as the intermediary for the Northern Alberta Intermediate Hockey League, succeeding Charlie Lewis of Ponoka who resigned.

Quakers, Stamps In Overtime Tie

Sofiak Terrific; Yashuk Sparks Late Saskatoon Rally

CALGARY, Jan. 8.—(CP)—Sparked by the sensational net-minding of agile Johnny Sofiak, the tail-end Saskatoon Quakers edged out a 4-4 overtime tie with Calgary Stampeders Friday night in a drab Western Canada Hockey League game.

More than 5,000 fans braved near blizzard conditions to watch the third-place Stampeders blow a crucial lead in the third period and save a chance to pull within striking distance of the second-place Edmonton Flyers.

SOFIAK HURT

Sofiak was the star of the game. He kicked out 42 shots besides the four that eluded him and several times pulled off near-impossible saves. With three minutes to play in the overtime period, he was struck in the face by a puck while flying flat on the ice. Game was held up 10 minutes while the gash above his left eye was cleaned with five stitches. Then he returned to kick out shot after shot and earn the tie.

Bill Johnson paced the Saskatoon attack with a brace of markers, including the tying goal. Reg Bentley and Mike Yashuk got the others. Johnny Markham was Johnny McHard, Stan Devic, Bunny Dene and Chuck McHard.

Quakers played a cagey game throughout the lusterless contest, lying back and waiting for the breaks. During the greater part of the game they threw up a four-man defense line in an effort to hold the goal-hungry Stampeders at bay. Despite the check-checking play of Saskatoon, Stamps took a 3-2 lead in the opening period and increased it to 4-2 at the end of the first.

Quakers came back to tie up the game.

YASHUK, THE SPARK

Mike Yashuk, former Winnipeg player, provided the scoring spark for Saskatoon in their third-period comeback. He slipped home Les Strong's goal-mouth pass to cut the Stamps lead to a single goal.

With less than three minutes left to play in regulation time, Yashuk laid down a perfect pass to Johnson, who blasted an eight-foot drive past Bertie to tie the score.

There was no scoring in the overtime period.

Only one penalty was handed out in the clearly fought-out contest, with Denny Henderson drawing a suspension for a second time.

HALEY BROTHERS JOIN WETASKIWIN

Edmonton's latest hockey brother act has changed its playing allegiance from Canadians of the Junior league to Wetaskiwin in the Northern Alberta Intermediate League. The change is effective immediately and Don and Len Haley will be in Wetaskiwin every Monday when they tangle with Ponoka.

Coach "Coney" LeFevre of Canucks explained that he released the Haleys to Wetaskiwin because there was little likelihood his club could get anywhere in the city league but the Hales boys should have a chance elsewhere, particularly at Wetaskiwin has sought their services for sometime.

Don is signed by the Chicago Black Hawks and Len by Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League.

Little Accomplished At Sports Meeting

OTTAWA, Jan. 8.—(CP)—Two short verbal blasts highlighted an otherwise sedate meeting Friday of Canadian sports-governors' organizations called to discuss the ills of the country's amateur sport.

Both blasts were short and to the point, but little was done about either of them.

DUDLEY STEAMS

George Dudley, Midland, Ont., became heated during discussion of the question whether Canada should withdraw from international competition. He talked of the "hockey" "scheme" at the winter games in Switzerland and declared the IOC is "remodelled on a democratic basis."

The IOC "should be a body appointed by the various sports governing bodies."

The question of students going to study to play sports, particularly professional hockey, or junior "A" in the Ontario Hockey Association, was brought up by J. L. Murray, principal of Kingston, Ont., collegiate.

SCHOOL SURVEY

He said a survey of 50 Ontario schools, taken since 1947, showed that 119 boys of 14 and 15 years of age had gone from schools to play hockey. "I think this is an excellent sign," he said, "but the governing bodies realizing the trend."

Clarence Campbell of Montreal, president of the NHL, said he would be "happy to discuss the whole problem if sound statistical information is available."

Edmontonians Spurn Refundable Taxes

Average of $98.61 Due Highest in Canada

Edmonton's average for the refundable portion of the 1943-44 income tax will be the highest in Canada, but many people won't get it.

Compulsory savings in 1943-44 from an average of $188.61 to $60.42 in Quebec City.

The reason why some towns are entitled to it won't get it is simply because the revenue department doesn't know where they are.

300,000 NOT FOUND
So far, despite an extensive campaign, the department is not able to locate some 300,000 persons in Canada.

The total of compulsory savings to be disbursed amounts to $237,315,600 of which about $19,000,000 is interest which has accumulated at two per cent on the savings of some 2,500,000 Canadians who paid income tax in 1943-44.

Last fall the income tax branch launched a six-week campaign against persons who paid compulsory savings in 1943-44 to advise the revenue department where they have changed their names or addresses.

Special cards were made available in post offices but only 80,000 people responded.

SOME TURN UP
Since then, verification of addresses and more responses have brought the total to 512,370 who have been found of the estimated 800,000 or more who have changed their names or addresses since 1943-44.

This estimate is based on government records, with returning the 1942 refundable savings of $188.61 to $182.00 people. Nearly 40,000 of these have not yet been found.

Meanwhile, the department has "Paleface" moved over to Empress.

BOB HOPE AND JANE RUSSELL IN THE BIG COMEDY SHOW "PALEFACE" has been moved over to the Empress for an extended run starting Monday.

Paramount has certainly not shared the honors in the latest Technicolor hit, "THE PALEFACE".

The laugh appeal of Bob Hope and Jane Russell of "Paleface" have been combined in the biggest and best comedy take-off in years.

If you haven't already seen "THE PALEFACE" be sure and see it at the Empress on this extended run. You'll have lots of laughs and enjoy it to the utmost.

(Adv.) get the best of it before it is replaced by the latest in comedy.

They won't get it until March unless they are 45 or over and consider that the 1942 refundable savings is payable immediately.

It is payable immediately to states but to no one else.

Fur Fashions for Milady Forecast At Troc Wednesday

You'll have to give the ol' budget a mighty squeeze if you want to buy one of the fabulous fur fashions to be shown at the Trocadero ballroom Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Enticing, entrancing, luxurious furs, brought here under the auspices of the Alberta Fur Breeders' Association, will be modelled for Edmonton's fashion-wise women.

Sponsoring organizations are the Yolando club and the Sir George French Chapter, IODE.

Purpose of the show is to illustrate just what beautiful things can be done with the furs available in our own country.

Feature attractions will be the elegantly designed stoles, evening wraps, cocktail jackets and other luxury models.

This year has seen a tremendous comeback for the fur fashion business and with the introduction of new fur treatments, more and more women find themselves proud possessors of fur wraps for the wintry weather.

Mink, fox and ermine stoles have been swept to the foreground of the fashion picture in a sudden upsurge of popularity and furriers clap their hands gleefully to see the development.

Mrs. R. N. Hydorn and Mrs. Donald Fraser, president and past-president respectively of the Yolando club are busy as bees with arrangements for the show. Mrs. Tanner Staples and Mrs. Arthur Crockett are contributing their share of time and ideas to the success of the show on behalf of their IODE chapter.

Proceeds will be used for local charities and the two sponsoring clubs look to a successful venture.

Modelling in the show will be Mrs. W. P. Marquardt, Mrs. D. Elton, Mrs. M. Stevenson, Mrs. C. Dowdell, Mrs. G. Johnson, Mrs. David Lubert, Jessie Spence, Nancy Tighe and Esme Fraser-Pike.

Basement Dispute Has Many Phases

Prospective Builders Should Balance Cost And Use

Anyone who likes an argument can start one easily by bringing up the subject of basement disputes. To such a controversial basic principle and known facts may be ignored in favor of misinterpreted experience. Before the argument starts all over again, let's take a look at some points upon which everyone can agree.

No so many years ago most basements were used for storage. They were dark, damp, and often had a bad smell. They were not used for anything else. But now, as the value of space has increased, basements have become more important. They are now used for many things, including laundry, storage, and even living space. This has led to many disputes between owners and tenants, or between different owners of the same property.

One of the main reasons for these disputes is the lack of clear rules. Many people have different ideas about what is allowed in a basement. Some think it should be used only for storage, while others think it can be used for anything. This has led to many arguments and even lawsuits.

To avoid these disputes, it is important to have clear rules from the start. These rules should cover everything from what can be stored in the basement to what can be done in it. They should also cover the cost of any improvements or repairs. By having these rules in place, everyone can know what is allowed and what is not, and there will be fewer disputes.

UNIT NO. SMALLER

As the years passed heating units have become smaller and have been found to reduce the size of the pipes and to get them out of the way. The installation of gas in cities like Edmonton has removed the coal bin from many basements making still more space available. These changes have made possible the general development of the basement from a room or roomer's room to a living space. The roomer's room is often called the "bachelor's den" because it is a place where a single man can live. It is a small room with a bed, a desk, and a chair. It is a place where a man can live alone and be comfortable.

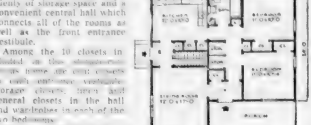

Another reason for the development of the basement is the need for more space. As the population of cities has increased, there has been a need for more housing. This has led to the development of multi-story buildings with basements. These basements are used for many things, including storage, laundry, and even living space. This has led to many disputes between owners and tenants, or between different owners of the same property.

Basements are expensive to build, and a person has a house with a basement, he is able to use it to the best advantage by building a room or two in it. But if he is building a new house he must well consider whether or not the advantages are worth the cost of excavation plus the cost of the walls and floors. The cost of excavation is a major factor in the decision to build a basement. It is often more expensive than people think it will be. This is because of the cost of the walls and floors, and the cost of the foundation. The foundation is a major part of the cost, and it is often more expensive than the walls and floors. This is because the foundation has to be built on a solid base, and it has to be built to last for many years. This is why it is so important to have a good foundation.

SPACE HEATERS NOW Small and compact space heaters have been developed which use gas and which are as efficient as a basement furnace can do the job and at a lower annual cost. The same heaters can circulate heat below the floors, either by gravity or by

Return Asked

LETTERIDGE Jan. 2.—(CP)—Re-establishment of a federal government subsidy on milk to offset any possible increase in consumer milk prices was urged yesterday by the Letteridge Trades and Labor Council.

The council submitted a brief to the House of Commons in Ottawa, asking that the government return the subsidy on milk to the level of 1932.

Earlier the board requested supporting testimony from dairymen and milk producers on their application to have milk and cream operations, suggested that milk prices be increased to give distributors another cent a quart. Producers did not specify their price increase but said they would be heard in Letteridge, the board went to Medicine Hat to deal with applications for price increases today.

Anglo-Home 1 Test Promising

By Harlo Jones

Redwater hit the news again today with word of another test reaching Edmonton from Anglo-Home Industries No. 1. Latest effort probed the interval 3,165 to 3,225 feet, and got a rise of 2,925 feet of gassy oil during a time interval of one hour.

The Anglo-Home No. 2 well, on the adjacent acreage, which also tested successfully last week, has set its first record. Another wildcat, to be drilled by Continental Oil Company of Canada Limited, is now being drilled and is expected to begin drilling this weekend near Redwater. It is located on lot 16 of 22-45-19-4th.

EXTENDS DEED

The British-American Leduc-Leitchfield well which probed the D3 without success has now plugged back to take production from the D2. It is expected the well will be perforated and tested over the weekend. The attempt gave an appreciable northwesterly extension of the D2 zone at Leduc beyond its previous-known limits. It has been announced that five Clifton C. Cross companies, Clifton, Leduc-West, East Leduc, G. & H.

THAT PESKY MOUSE

WHEN snow covers the ground, and it is hard to find food, Ginky begins to make plans to get into the pint fruit jar which the Teenie Weenies have made into a jail. Once the mouse is locked in the jail, the Teenie Weenies must feed him. Nothing suits the lazy mouse better than to lie there all day and sleep, safe from weasels, cats and owls. Ginky has tried all sorts of schemes to get arrested, but the Teenie Weenies, remembering how difficult it is to get the mouse out when he once gets comfortably settled in the jail, refuse to arrest him unless he becomes dangerous.

Lately, Ginky had been trying hard to get into jail because the weather was cold, snow covered the ground, food was scarce and a weasel had been reported in the neighborhood. He upset the Teenie Weenie garbage bin several times. Then one night he threw a rock through one of the shoe house windows. Even when he called the little people nasty names, the Teenie Weenies paid no attention to him. But Ginky never gives up when an idea gets into his mouse head, and finally he had a brilliant idea.

One morning he saw a man walking back and forth in front of the big grocery store that stands near the Teenie Weenie village. The man carried a sign on a stick which said that the grocer was unfair to labor. Ginky learned from a wise old rat that the man was picketing the store, and he then and there decided he'd do a little picketing himself. He lotted a sign on a small piece of paper with a bit of charcoal and fastened it to a stick. Then making his way to the Teenie Weenie village, he began pacing up and down in front of the Teenie Weenie jail.

Several of the Teenie Weenies gathered around the mouse and asked what he was doing.

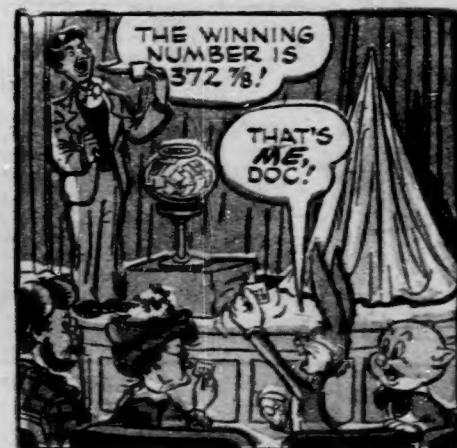

"I'm picketing your jail," answered Ginky. "I'm a criminal and I have a right to stay in your jail." Glaring at the Teenie Weenie Policeman he continued, "No one dares to cross this picket line."

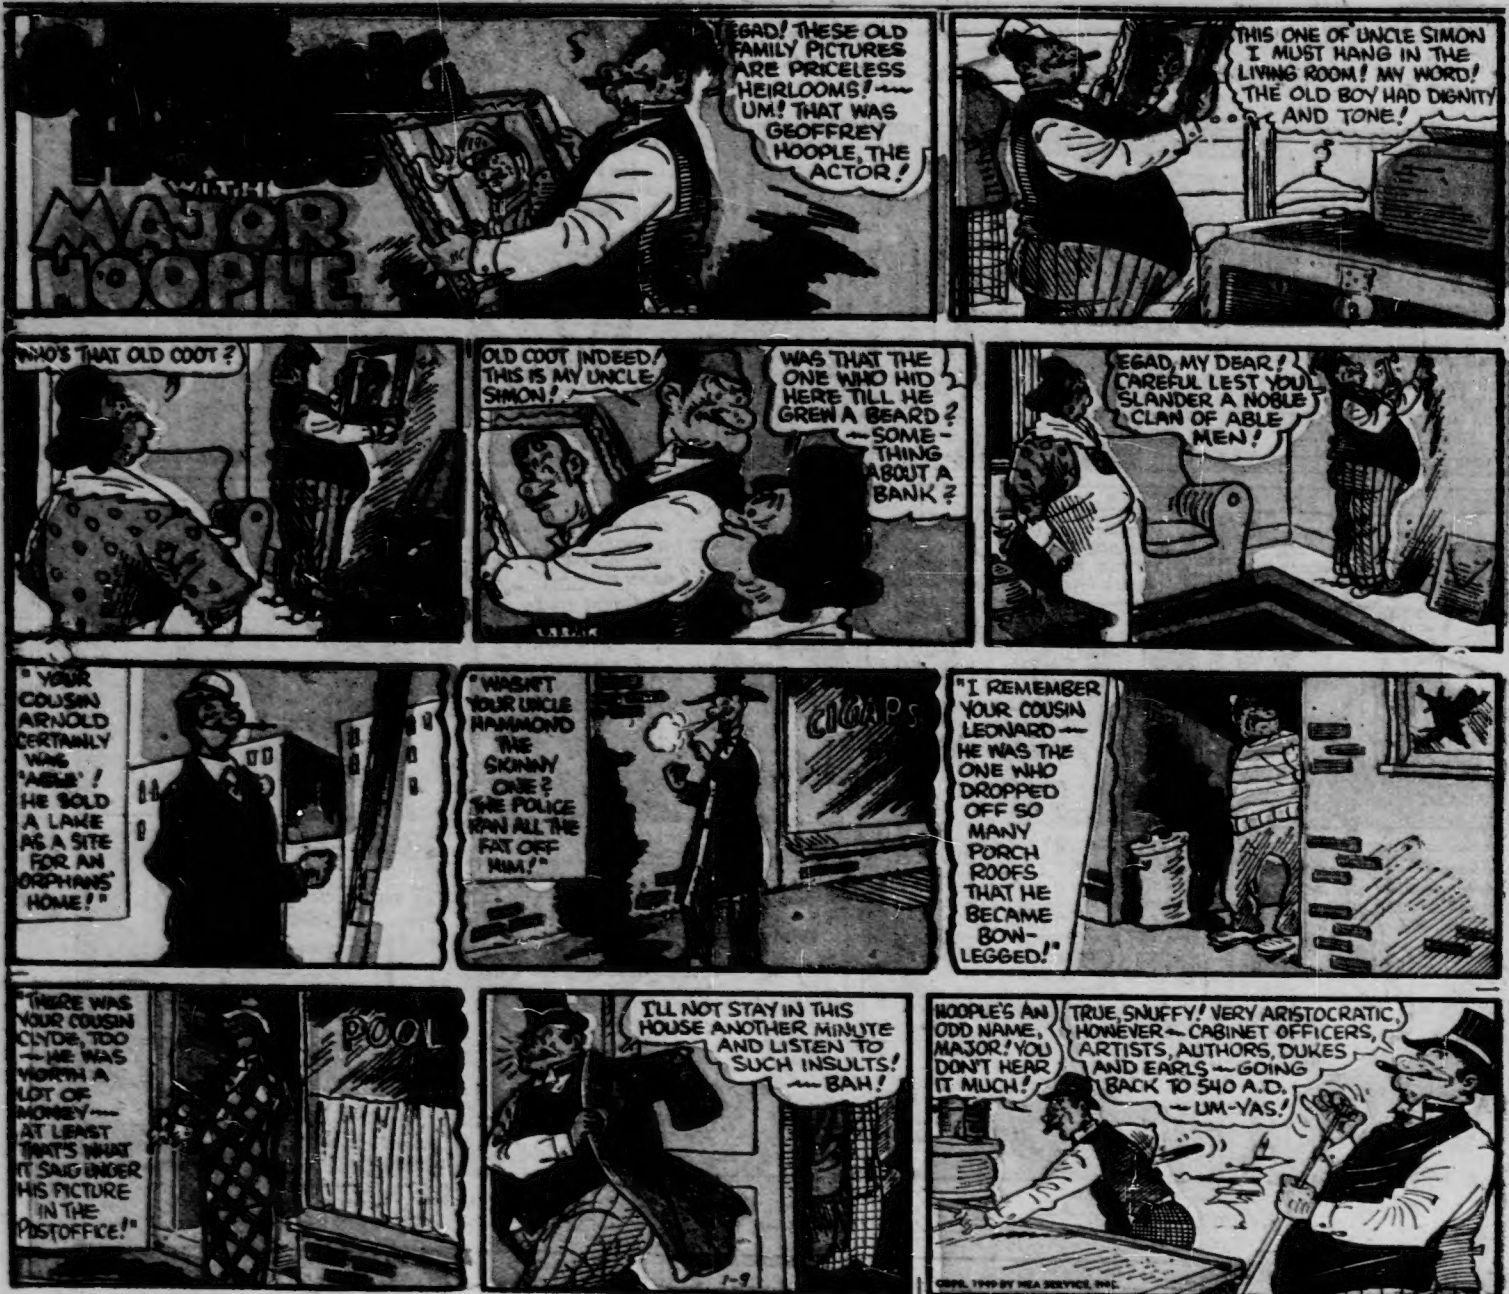

"That's all right with us," smiled the Policeman.

"You are the only one who might want to break through, and of course you can't break through your own picket line. You just go on and picket as long as you like."

Ginky marched up and down in front of the jail for more than an hour, but finally his toes began to get cold and he sneaked off, leaving his sign leaning against the jail door.

However, the Teenie Weenies expect Ginky back in a few days with a new plan to get himself arrested.
